COOKIE POLICY

Website Cookies & Similar Technologies

Draft for business review. Complete marked details and obtain appropriate U.S. legal review before publication.

1. Introduction

This Cookie Policy explains how Skyrun Limo LLC (“Skyrun,” “we,” “our,” or “us”) may use cookies and similar technologies on our website. Cookies are small data files stored on a device; similar technologies may include local storage, pixels, tags, scripts, and tools used for preferences, website usage, or security.

The technologies used may change. This policy must reflect the tools actually installed and the purposes for which they operate.

2. What Are Cookies?

Cookies can help a website remember information between visits or maintain information during a session. Session cookies generally expire when the session ends; persistent cookies remain for a defined period or until deleted. First-party cookies are set by the website being visited, while third-party cookies are set by another service operating on or through the website.

Similar technologies may operate without traditional cookies.

3. Categories of Technologies

Strictly necessary technologies may support essential website functions, security, navigation, form submission, or other requested services. Where applicable law permits, these may operate without optional cookie consent; not every technology labeled “essential” automatically qualifies for an exemption.

Functional technologies may remember preferences or improve the experience. Where required by law, they will be used only after appropriate consent or another valid legal basis has been established.

If enabled, analytics and performance technologies may help Skyrun understand page visits, traffic sources, navigation patterns, and performance. Providers, data collected, retention settings, and consent requirements depend on the tools deployed.

If Skyrun uses advertising pixels, retargeting tools, or similar technologies, they may measure advertising performance or support targeted advertising. These must be disclosed and controlled in accordance with applicable law. Skyrun should not claim to use advertising cookies unless actually installed.

4. Why We Use These Technologies

Depending on tools enabled, cookies and similar technologies may maintain functionality, protect forms and systems, remember preferences, diagnose issues, measure performance, understand visitor interactions, measure campaigns, or support advertising and personalization where lawfully enabled. The final policy should connect each category to the technologies and purposes actually used.

5. Cookie Consent and Preferences

Where applicable law requires consent for non-essential cookies or similar technologies, Skyrun will provide an appropriate consent mechanism before those technologies operate.

Where implemented, the preference tool should allow visitors to accept, reject, or manage non-essential categories as required by law. Rejecting non-essential cookies should not unnecessarily prevent access to core features. Visitors should be able to revisit preferences through the website's cookie-settings mechanism where required or provided.

A consent banner alone is not sufficient if underlying technologies continue operating contrary to valid preferences.

6. Browser Controls

Most common browsers allow users to view, block, or delete cookies through settings. Blocking cookies may affect website functionality or preferences. Browser controls may not control every tracking technology, and deleting cookies may not remove information already collected by a provider.

7. Third-Party Services

The website may rely on third-party services for hosting, security, analytics, maps, communications, or other features. Those services may use cookies or similar technologies depending on integration and configuration.

The final policy should identify relevant providers and link to their privacy or cookie documentation where appropriate. Skyrun does not control all independent third-party practices; visitors should review applicable third-party policies.

8. California and Other State Privacy Rights

Depending on Skyrun's legal obligations and actual data practices, residents of certain states may have rights concerning personal information collected through cookies and similar technologies.

For example, California law may provide rights concerning certain sales or sharing of personal information, including some online tracking for cross-context behavioral advertising. Where applicable, Skyrun will provide required disclosures and opt-out mechanisms and handle legally recognized browser-based opt-out signals as required by law.

Exact rights and requirements depend on the relevant law, whether it applies to Skyrun, and the technologies used.

9. Do Not Track and Opt-Out Signals

Some browsers provide privacy settings or signals intended to communicate tracking preferences. Their effect depends on applicable law, the signal, and the website configuration. Where a legally recognized opt-out preference signal must be honored, Skyrun will implement necessary technical and organizational measures.

10. Updates to This Policy

Skyrun may update this policy when the website, technologies, service providers, or legal obligations change. The revised policy will be posted with an updated date. Where required, changes to cookie practices will be accompanied by appropriate notice or consent.
